Cassandra Hepburn with Dirt Candles

The guests couldn't get enough of the heavenly-scented Dirt Candles. Created by husband and wife team Kelli Palmer Kennedy and James Eric New, Dirt Candles are all natural and made from organically grown American soybeans, essential oils and recycled glass and paper. With fun names like Chop Shop (a spicy cinnamon with green tea and soymilk) and Riot Act (a fruity-floral of berries and herbs) and a variety of tempting scents, it was hard to choose which one to take home. Lacey Chabert sampled Dirt candles with her mom, and finally settled on the "Smart Alek" and "Sugar Rush" scents. The philosophy of Dirt is "all things natural" and nothing artificial will ever find its way into one of their products. Not only do they care about what goes into each candle, they care about what comes out of each line as well. Therefore, a portion of the profit from every candle goes to select charitable causes shared both by the company and its customers. www.dirtcandles.com
